

ARTICLE - YOUNG LEADERS

From 28 March to April 1, 2022, IRSEM is organizing the first edition of its Paris Defence Young Leaders program in the context of the French Presidency of the Council of the European Union. The Institute will host twelve European promising figures in the field of defence and security, selected with the help of the embassies. The Young Leaders program aims to create a network of young personalities, to build awareness of the French vision of defence issues, to encourage dialogue between representatives of various countries and institutions on these subjects and to establish a "promotional" spirit conducive to exchanges. The unifying theme of this edition is anticipation and preparation of the future.

After a welcome breakfast and the presentation of the program, the Young Leaders will attend speeches by Major General Eric Autellet on the theme "Strategic issues for France and Europe - a military perspective".

In a second phase, the Young Leaders will participate in a round table discussion on the new strategic challenges and the preparation of the future within the Defence Innovation Agency (DIA). The speakers will be Colonel David Pappalardo (DGRIS), Captain Géraud Cazenave (EMA-ESMG), Tsiporah Fried (EMA-ESMG) and Colonel Yves Lévêque (DGA-AID).

The second day of the program will start with a round table discussion on the feedback from the Covid-19 pandemic and resilience for the Armed Forces and will be moderated by Colonel Francis Frank (CICDE), Captain Eric d'Artorg and Victor Bernaud. This sequence will be followed by a discussion on the theme of "Foresight of air and space conflict" with Captain Ivan Sand, Jean-Christophe Noel and Lieutenant-Colonel Raphaël Briant.

The Young Leaders will then take part in a round table discussion on climate, defence and security issues with Adrien Estève (IRSEM), Tom Haristias (DGRIS), Colonel Philippe Le Carff (EMA) and Julia Tasse (IRIS). They will also visit the Hôtel des Invalides and the Army Museum.

The twelve participants will go to Ariane Group (Les Mureaux) to discover their civil and military activities and visit the Ariane V / VI assembly sites. They will then join the SGDSN for a round table discussion with General Vincent Cousin, Prefect Nicolas de Maistre, General Wallaert and Jean-Hugues Simon Michel, on the themes of "Resilience plan, governance of hybrid threats, PPST and Viginum".

The Young Leaders will also visit the 123 Orléans-Bricey air base where they will be presented the functioning of the base and the present and future air logistics, as well as an A400M aircraft, in the company of CESA officers.

The last day will start with a round table discussion at the Ministry of Europe and Foreign Affairs, during which Manuel Lafont-Rapnouil, Director of CAPS, as well as representatives of the European Union Directorate and the Strategic and Security Affairs Directorate will speak.

The Young Leaders will then have a meeting with the Minister of the Armed Forces, Florence Parly, at the Hôtel de Brienne.

Finally, they will take part in a serious game with representatives of the EU Institute for Security Studies, the Jeunes de l'IHEDN and the DGRIS, based on a fictitious scenario fed by the analyses of IRSEM researchers.

This first promotion is focused on Europe but the program is intended, in subsequent years, to welcome promising figures from all over the world and to allow them to exchange with the best specialists in defence issues and practitioners.

Participants

Dr. Tamas Peter BARANYI (35), Hungarian, is Deputy Director for Strategy at the Institute for Foreign Affairs and Trade since 2020. He was previously Head of Research at the Antall Jozsef Knowledge Center and Head of Research at the House of Terror Museum. His field of research covers the history of the United States during the Cold War, transatlantic relations, and contemporary strategic issues, particularly in the Asia-Pacific. He holds a PhD in modern and contemporary world history from Eötvös Lorand University and holds a MA in American Studies and a MA in History from Eötvös Lorand University. He speaks Hungarian, English, Spanish, Turkish and French. Address: tamas.baranyi@ifat.hu

Mr. Zebulon CARLANDER (26), Swedish, is responsible for the security policy programme of the non-governmental organisation Folk och Försvar ("Society and Defence"). He is also a reserve rifle squadron leader in the Swedish Armed Forces. Zebulon Carlander has been a future NATO fellow, vice-president of the Youth Atlantic Treaty Association and a member of the Stockholm Free World Forum, a Swedish think tank working in the field of foreign policy. He holds degrees in political science from Linköping University and Stockholm University and is currently studying military history at the Swedish Defence University. His research interests include Swedish national security issues, transatlantic relations, artificial intelligence and cyber defence, all of which are covered in his latest book Vägval (Choices). Zebulon Carlander speaks Swedish and English. Address: zebulon.carlander@folkochforsvar.se

Ms. Célia Marie CHAUSSE (31), Austrian, is Deputy Head of the Investments Screening Department at the Federal Ministry for Digital and Economic Affairs, where since 2018 she has held several positions in the field of investment screening and arms exports control in particular. A law graduate from the University of Vienna, she speaks German, French and English. Address: celia.chausse@gmail.com

Ms. Liina LUMISTE (28), Estonian, is a legal advisor for the Estonian government. She was a researcher in international law at the NATO Cooperative Cyber Defence Centre of Excellence (CCDCOE) and is a lecturer at the University of Tartu. She holds a MA in Criminal Liability of Legal Entities in Customary International Law and is currently in the doctoral program at the University of Tartu. Her thesis will focus on Russian and Chinese approaches to international law and cyber operations. Liina Lumiste is also involved in a research project at the University of Tartu on Russia and the consolidation of regional international law in Eurasia. She speaks Estonian and English. Address: liina.lumiste@ccdcce.org

Dr. Roberta MULAS (36), Italian, is Analyst in international security affairs at the Office for Diplomatic Affairs, Presidency of the Italian Republic. Her field of expertise covers disarmament, non-proliferation issues, and international relations in the Middle East. She is also a lecturer at the International University of Social Studies (LUISS Guido Carli). Roberta holds a PhD in Political and International Studies from the University of Warwick and a MA in International Relations from the University of Bologna. She speaks Italian, English, German, Spanish and French. Address: robertamulas@ymail.com

Dr. Kristina PRISMANTAITÉ (36), Lithuanian, is Director of the Center for Defense Analysis and Associate Professor at the Lithuanian Military Academy since 2020. Previously she was Lecturer in International Relations and Cyber Studies at the Baltic Defense College. Her area of expertise covers cyberdefence and European foreign and security policy. She holds a PhD in Politics from the University of Manchester and a MA in Diplomacy and International Relations from Vytautas Magnus University. She speaks Lithuanian, English, Spanish, Russian and Polish. Address: kristina.prismantaite@lka.lt

Dr. Jacek Marcin RAUBO (36), Polish, is Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Political Science of the University of Poznan. He regularly contributes to the military and geopolitical news and analysis portal Defense24.com. His field of research covers defense and international security issues, particularly in Europe, the Middle East and East Africa, as well as security issues related to new technologies. He holds a PhD in political science from the University of Poznan and a MA in international relations from the same university. He speaks Polish and English. Address: j.raubo@defence24.pl

Dr. Frank SAUER (41), German, is Senior Research Fellow at the University of the Bundeswehr and Head of Research at the METIS Institute for Strategy and Foresight. His research area covers nuclear deterrence, terrorism, cybersecurity, and military applications of emerging technologies. He is notably a member of the International Committee for Robot Arms Control (ICRAC) and the International Panel on the Regulation of Autonomous Weapons (iPRAW). He holds a PhD in political science from the Goethe University in Frankfurt. He speaks German and English. Address: frank.sauer@unibw.de

Dr. Pedro SEABRA (34), Portuguese, is a post-doctoral Research Fellow at the Center for International Studies of the University Institute of Lisbon (CEI-IUL). He is also Research Fellow at the Institute of National Defense. His work focuses in particular on the regional dynamics in the South Atlantic and capacity building in West Africa. He holds a PhD in political science from the University of Lisbon and a MA in political science and international relations from the Faculty of Social Sciences NOVA. He speaks Portuguese and English. Address: pedro.seabra@defesa.pt

Ms. Marta SUMMERS (30), Spanish, is a lecturer at the Francisco de Vitoria University (Madrid) and coordinator of the International Observatory for Studies on Terrorism (OIET), specializing in jihadist activities in the Maghreb and the Western Sahel. She was an intelligence analyst at Prosegur Group and EULEN Security. Marta graduated from the Autonomous University of Madrid in Intelligence Analysis, and from the Spanish Center for High National Defense Studies. She is currently pursuing a MA in Analysis and Prevention of Terrorism at the Rey Juan Carlos University. Marta speaks Spanish, English and French. Address: marta.summers@ufv.es

Ms. Jeta TELA-SHEMA (38), Kosovar, is Chief of Staff and Senior Political Advisor to the Minister of Internal Affairs of Kosovo. She is also a consultant for the Council of Europe in management, rehabilitation, and reintegration of prisoners in the Western Balkans. Jeta Tela-Shema was an expert on an OSCE mission for local governance in Kosovo and a UNDP Prevention of Violent Extremism Coordinator for the Kosovo Safety and Security Project (KSSP). She holds a bachelor's degree in Psychology from the University of Pristina. Her area of expertise covers the fight against arms trafficking, prevention of violent extremism and post-conflict reconstruction issues. She speaks Albanian, English and Serbian. Address: jeta.tela@rks-gov.net

Ms. Olesya VARTANYAN (34), Georgian, is Senior Analyst at the International Crisis Group since 2016. Her area of expertise covers political and security issues in the South Caucasus and the frozen conflicts in the region. Previously, she was a regional correspondent for the New York Times for six years and a reporter for Radio Free Europe / Radio Liberty for five years. She holds a MA in international conflict studies from King's College London. She speaks Georgian, Russian and English. Address: ovartanyan@crisisgroup.org